

#195 Brattle Street,

Cambridge, Mass.,

March 20th, 1900.

Dear Miss Bates:-

Thank you for the announcement of the Department of English Literature, which I have looked over with interest. You may be interested in knowing that I regularly refer my students who are preparing bibliographies on subjects in the drama to your "The English Drama-- A Working Basis." If you ever get out a new edition of it, I have some notes in my copy which may be of use to you.

Sincerely yours,

Geo. P. Baker.

Professor K. L. Bates.

4185 Rattle Street,
Cambridge, Mass.,
March 20th, 1900.

Dear Miss Bates:-

Please return.
Thank you for the announcement of the department of English literature, which I have looked over with interest.
You may be interested in knowing that I recently refer my students who are preparing bibliographies on subjects in the drama to your "The English Drama-- A Working Basis." If you ever get out a new edition of it, I have some notes in my copy which may be of use to you.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. L. Bates

Professor R. L. Bates.